(Puntuació: 2 punts / Puntuación: 2 puntos)

My name's Paula, I'm from Valencia. I'm a nurse and I work at St Mary's Hospital in North West London. In Spain, it was very difficult to find a job. I had an interview in Madrid with a British nursing agency and I was offered a job because I had some work experience and my English was good.

I came to London three years ago, I was twenty-seven. My first year in London wasn't easy. I lived in a small flat with a Portuguese nurse and a Spanish waiter. My bedroom was terrible, it was very small and the furniture was old. I talked to my family and friends on Skype every day. I didn't go out very much. I listened to music and watched TV. I felt nostalgic but I was satisfied with my job and salary. The nurses and doctors at work were nice and friendly.

Now, I'm happy with my life. I like my job, I live in a nice flat and I've got a lot of friends. I love going out with them. London is a multicultural city, there is always something interesting to do. Every summer, I go back to Spain on holiday. There is only one problem: London is very expensive!
