READING COMPREHENSION (2 points)INTERNATIONAL WOMEN'S DAY

International Women's Day on 8 March is a day to celebrate the social, economic and political achievements of women and to reflect on progress and gender equality. For over a hundred years, International Women's Day has focused on the problems affecting women all around the world.

The history of Women's Day.

In 1908, 15,000 women in New York went on strike because of the low pay and terrible working conditions in the factories where they worked. The following year the Socialist Party of America organized a National Women's Day, and one year after that there was a conference in Copenhagen, Denmark, about equality and women's right to vote. In Europe, the idea grew and became International Women's Day for the first time in 1911. The United Nations declared International Women's Day in 1975.

Why do we need and International Women's Day?

Across the world, less than 15 per cent of the world's countries have a female leader. Only 24 per cent of senior managers are women and 25 per cent have no female senior managers at all. Women do the lowest-paid jobs and earn less money for the same work..

There are also significant inequalities in healthcare and safety. An estimated 839 women a day die in childbirth. There are also shocking statistics for female murder too. Last year the UN found that 137 women a day were killed by their partner or previous partner. Worldwide, over 50 per cent of women's murders are committed by the victim's partner or family. Women are also more likely to be ignored by doctors when they say they are in pain and serious health problems are sometimes ignore for years.

What happens on 8 of March?

Across the world there are protests and events to demand equality. Many women wear purple, a colour worn by women who campaigned for women's right to vote. Recently, marches and protests have gained force thanks to the #MeToo and #TimesUp movements against sexual harassment. There is still a lot of work to be done for gender equality, but women's movements around the world are ready to do that work.
